Although the Legislature has passed but few bills during the present session, the members are to be congratulated on the passage of the Educational Bill, which provides an appropriation of a half million dollars for several of the educational institutions of the State. Kentucky has been much criticised for her lack of progress along educational lines, but the clouds are at last lifting and Kentucky is in a fair way to take a prominent position among her sister States in this regard. This State has never been lacking in strong, public-spirited men and talented women, but unfortunately politics has played its part in the past. It has been a source of embarrassment to Kentuckians that this State has, for some time, stood in the forty-second place in the descending scale of illiteracy. The new measure is practically certain to be signed by the Governor, and when the law becomes operative it will do much toward dissipating the prejudice that has existed against the State and toward placing her where she justly belongs and where she should have been for the past twenty years. If the Legislature accomplishes nothing more during the present session it will at least have rendered the State a great service from an educational standpoint.

We are pleased to make the announcement that we have contracted for the necessary equipment to make the plant of the Frankfort Printing Company one of the largest and best in the State outside of Louisville. The management has purchased a large Miehle press, with a capacity of 2,500 an hour, and also additional linotypes. The company will endeavor to publish one of the best afternoon dailies in the State, and the weekly will shortly be without a peer in Kentucky. The printing and binding departments are being equipped with the latest and best machinery, and the Frankfort Printing Company will be prepared to turn out as good work as can be done in the State. This company is now employing thirty-three persons, and this force will be increased within the next few weeks. The new machinery will be installed within the next thirty days. The Kentucky Law Reporter is also being improved, and the lawyers of the State who subscribe for this publication will find it to be one of the best in the country. In future it will be out strictly on time, and all cases will be promptly and accurately reported.

No real Democrat can rejoice over the election of a Republican to the high office of United States Senator in a State that is normally Democratic by a large majority. True Democrats can not help but deplore the conditions that lead to the defeat of the regular Democratic nominee. The defeat of Gov. Beckham is but the aftermath of the feeling of unrest engendered by practical politicians during the past five years, and which was brought to a head during the last State campaign. Now that the senatorial fight is over it behooves the Democrats to get together and start afresh. But they should bear in mind that the people are alert, and if they would restore Democracy to its former noorings in this State they must work for the advancement of Kentucky's interests and not in the interest of any man or set of men who have personal axes to grind.

The Farmers Institute held at Beck's Hall in Louisville Friday and Saturday, did not attract as many farmers as was expected.

The meeting was presided over by "Mose" Johnson, one of the men who and who so much interest that was to be the "new midnight clubs" organized for the purpose of illegally purchasing Caldwell Norton on the Board of culture. Farmers Institutes thrive in the heart of a big especially when promoted and ed over by a lot of "peantians."

at present only in they have been saved, increasing volume, for two and they have made many flowers rich.

The potatoes intended for seed should be put in cold storage before they sprout, that is to say in February and March. The cold storage firms all know how to keep them, and they come out in July or August; just as they were when stored. They should not be planted before the eyes show, which will occur in four or five days.

If I lived out in the interior of the State, I would certainly grow enough second crop to supply any county with seed. It would pay me and all my neighbors well. If they should use second crop seed once they would not have Northern seed or first crop seed as a gift. The second crop seed makes for earlier, better and larger spring crops. Every farmer in the State should have at least one barrel put in cold storage for his own planting. Then he would not only harvest the best table potatoes on earth for winter and spring use, but would have the best seed for spring and second crop planting. The best time to plant on heavily manured land is August 1st; on rich clover sod 20th of July.

It is very important to plant at the right time. September is usually dry. Sometimes a good rain does not come till the last of the month or the first week in October. If the potato field is still green then, as it will be if the planting was done late in July, the results of the rain will be eastonising. Two weeks without frost after a good September rain, will often quadruple the yield.

Planted later than August 10th, the crop is likely to be cut short by freezing weather.

In my opinion Kentucky could be and should be the greatest potato State in America. It can grow two crops with one-fourth the labor of one crop of tobacco.

Immigration Officials Will Watch For Anarchist's Appearance in Chicago.

If Emma Goldman the anarchist, appears in Chicago next week, as it has been reported she intends to do, she may be deported by the Government.

It was declared Thursday by immigration officials that when Miss Goldman left the United States last year and went to Europe, she cut herself off from this country and orders were given by the Immigration Bureau that she should be arrested and deported upon her return. If she is now in this country it is said that she must have evaded the immigration officers. The officers declare that if she appears in Chicago next week they will at once seek orders to arrest and deport her.
